

Get your copy of bronze framework

admin · Wednesday, February 25th, 2009

Bronze framework is a PHP MVC framework for building web applications. It was inspired by many other frameworks that can be found around. It uses a system of internal redirects and a recursive front controller to allow the developer to reuse code as much as possible, and avoid repetition.

For now, the only thing you can get is the source and consult :) I need some time to write proper documentation.

Anyway, download here, and please comment on it here
